LAWTON'S PLANS WIN

Capture of Santa Cruz, Another Filipino Stronghold.

AMERICAN VALOR AGAIN DISPLAYED.

Rebel Forces Under Command of a Chinaman Retire to the Mountains—Sixty-Eight of Their Number Killed—Our Loss Slight.

Manila, April 11.—Gen. Lawton has captured Santa Cruz, at the extreme end of the lake. He drove the rebels, who were commanded by a Chinaman named Pao-Wah, into the mountains. The Americans had six men wounded. The rebels lost 68 men killed and had 40 men wounded.

Was a Stronghold.

Santa Cruz was the Filipinos stronghold on Lake Laguna de Bay and it fell into the hands of Gen. Lawton's expedition after some sharp, quick fighting, forming one of the most interesting and important battles of the war. Plans of the American commanders worked perfectly, with the exception that the progress of the expedition was delayed by the difficult navigation of the rivers. About 1,500 picked men composed the expedition, which was under the personal command of Gen. Lawton, on account of the illness of Gen. King. These troops partly surrounded the city while the gunboats Laguna de Bay, Napidan and Oeste, under the command of Capt. Grant, of the Utah battery, shelled the city and outlying trenches. Gen. Lawton and his staff accompanied the troops, sometimes leading charges in Indian-fighting tactics, which eventually resulted in the complete rout of the rebels, with the smallest amount of damage to the city and slight loss to the Americans.

Warned by Signal Fires.

The expedition started from San Pedro Macati at dusk on Saturday, intending to capture Santa Cruz by assault at daybreak. But in navigating the shallow, tortuous Pasig river, perhaps through the cunning of the native pilots, who were not anxious to see the Americans successful, several boats grounded, and it was nearly dawn when the troops reached the lake. The expedition then steamed cautiously forward, the Laguna de Bay guarding the rear. Rebel signal fires, however, were lighted on the mountain tops, giving alarm of the approach of the troops. It was noon before the white church towers of the city appeared in the shadow of the great volcanic mountain on a marshy plain, dotted with occasional palm groves.

Entrenchments Shelled.

A casco with a force of 200 picked sharpshooters, under Maj. Weisenberger, mostly belonging to the First Washington regiment, was run into a shallow inlet about five miles south of the city. Then a few shells were sent toward the intrenchments of the rebels at the edge of the woods, sending the enemy scampering inland. Then a number of Americans jumped into the water and, wading for about a hundred yards, crept forward and formed in line, covering the landing of the remainder, which finished about five o'clock. The three troops of the Fourth cavalry, unmounted, were sent ashore on a dangerous marshy point, directly south of the city, under fire from the enemy's trenches.

Meanwhile in the town itself there was utter silence and not a sign of life. Gen. Lawton, desiring to make an inspection and to give the inhabitants an opportunity to surrender, went on board the Laguna de Bay and steamed slowly to the dock, the whole fleet watching anxiously. When it was discovered by the glasses that the trenches and stone buildings were swarming with white-clad soldiers the two boats withdrew, receiving volleys from the trenches, thrown up on the marshy plain north of the city. The flotilla anchored in compact formation for the night, ready to resist any surprises from the rebel gunboats supposed to be in the lake.

The Attack Begins.

At sunrise Monday the assault commenced. The American outlines south of the city stretch two miles inland, and with its left sweeping the shore it moved north, while the Fourth cavalry men on the point advanced toward the city, pouring volleys upon the trenches. Simultaneously the gunboats hovered along the shore, shelling the woods ahead of the troops and driving the Filtered the houses and many warriors were taken prisoners. A considerable body of Filipinos fled northward, crossing the open marshes, but the Gatlings poured upon them a deadly hail until they disappeared in the woods, slaying dozens. Maj. Weisenberger deployed the sharpshooters along the shore and they crept steadily forward, aiding the Gatlings. Finally a large body was sent against the enemy in the woods, driving them toward the mountains.

Headquarters in the Palace.

Gen. Lawton established headquarters at the elegant palace of the governor and a guard was immediately placed in the church, as the sacred edifices are always the first objective of looters. Within an hour the town was patrolled and all looting rigidly prevented. Almost all the inhabitants had fled during the two preceding nights, and only a few Chinese shopkeepers have emerged from hiding and resumed business. On the marshes north of town were found 40 dead Filipinos, some terribly torn by shells, and many others wounded, to whom the Americans offered their canteens, as though they were comrades. A surgeon who traversed the field counted 80 killed, and Gen. Lawton will report at least 68. One Filipino, attempting to make his escape, slashed viciously at Maj. Weisenberger, who shot and killed him.

Sunday the insurgents captured two men of the Fourteenth infantry, while unarmed, but the Americans stole the guns of their captors, clubbed them, hid in the trees over night and returned Monday morning.

The gunboats have been searching the Santa Cruz river for shipping.

To-day the expedition will push forward, the Americans having destroyed miles of telegraph lines, cutting off insurgent communication east and west.

Pleased at Washington.

Washington, April 11.—The rapidity of Gen. Lawton's movement and his success in capturing the insurgent stronghold of Santa Cruz occasioned favorable comment at the war department. While the advance northward to Malolos was in progress the insurgents to the south became very restless, threatening Lawton's front. Until MacArthur had fully carried out his plans Lawton remained inactive.

Gen. Otis' report, giving a heavy loss for the insurgents and a comparatively small number of casualties among our men, is attributed to the use of the gun-boats. The report that Lawton will pursue "westward" causes some confusion, owing to the lay of the land west of Santa Cruz. Back of the lake there is a narrow strip, leading back to Manila bay. A mountain range runs along this strip, affording the insurgents some opportunity for hiding and guerrilla tactics. The lake itself is west of Santa Cruz, so that it is assumed the report of a chase "westward" refers to Lawton's tactics of following the rebels along the narrow strip of land until the lake shore is cleared and the territory reached which spreads out in the plain which lies immediately south of Manila. This stretch of country has given much trouble, and if Lawton can clear it, and at the same time break up some of the insurgent strongholds, much will have been done to insure quiet in the south and west during the wet season.

Dr. Charles H. Castle, an Army Surgeon, Describes the Odor of the Army Beef.

Washington, April 11.—The army court of beef inquiry resumed its session at ten o'clock Monday with Rear Admiral John G. Walker, president of the Nicaraguan canal commission, on the stand. He had used canned roast beef and found it not unwholesome.

Dr. Charles H. Castle, an assistant surgeon of the First Ohio cavalry, for a time brigade surgeon, and one of the men whose name was given by Lieut. Gampfer as being present at Lakeland, Fla., when Mr. Morehouse, agent for Armour & Co., said that their beef had been chemically treated, said that on two occasions he had found the meat spoiled after it had passed inspection.

Describing the odor emitted by the meat, Dr. Castle said it was not of a disgusting character, but that it was an aromatic, acid, sour smell. He had reached the conclusion since he had returned to his laboratory work in Cincinnati that the beef had been treated either with the gas formaldehyde or the kindred solution of formaline—used as a gas as a germicide and disinfectant, and as a liquid as a museum fluid for preserving anatomical and pathological specimens. He had made no report to any superior officer concerning the agent's statements, because he had Ratifications.

THE SPANISH DOCUMENT ARRIVES.

M. Cambon Is to Represent Spain at What Will Become a Historical Ceremony at the Executive Mansion.

Washington, April 11.—The final ceremony in the reestablishment of peaceful relations between the United States and Spain will occur at the white house at two o'clock to-day, when the president and Ambassador Cambon, the latter acting for Spain, will exchange ratifications of the treaty of peace. The Spanish copy of the treaty, signed by the queen regent and Premier Silvela, arrived at the French embassy Monday. The officials of the embassy later called on Secretary Hay and the necessary arrangements for to-day's ceremony were made. The treaty forwarded by Spain is handsomely en-grailed on parchment, in old English script, with wide double columns, one in Spanish and the other in English. Its binding is of red morocco heavily embossed in gold, which gives the effect of the yellow and red colors of Spain.

The United States' copy of the treaty was finished Monday and placed in the possession of the president at the white house. Like other treaties to which the United States is a party, this document is a model of simplicity and neatness. The text is reproduced in parallel columns, the left in English and the right in Spanish, surrounded with a narrow border of the national colors. The document is enclosed in a cover of dark blue morocco with the great seal of the United States upon the face, and a decorative design in gilt.

When the exchange of ratifications occurs, the Spanish copy of the treaty will be handed to President McKinley to become the permanent property of the United States, and preserved in the state department along with other treaties. At the same time the president will hand to Ambassador Cambon, for Spain, the American copy of the treaty, which will become the property of Spain.

THE FIELD OBSEQUIES.

They Will Be Held in Washington on Thursday—Interment Will Probably Be in Stockbridge, Mass.

Washington, April 11.—When the United States court met Monday the death of Justice Field was announced and the court adjourned as a mark of respect. Decisions will be announced to-day.

The funeral services will be held at the Field home on Thursday, Rev. Randolph McKim, D. D., officiating, and the remains will be placed in a vault temporarily. The final interment will probably be at Stockbridge, Mass., with the remains of his parents, brothers and sisters.

Tragedy in St. Louis.

St. Louis, April 11.—At five o'clock Monday afternoon, when the immense department store of Siegel & Hillman was crowded with shoppers, Frank Callaway caused a panic by shooting and killing his wife, who was employed there as a saleswoman. Five shots were fired at the woman, the bullets entering her head and breast, killing her almost instantly. Callaway gave himself up and was taken to the Four Courts. Recently Mrs. Callaway filed a suit for divorce. She was young and handsome and one of the most popular and efficient employees in the store where she was employed.

A Rumor Denied.

Washington, April 11.—Persistent reports have been circulated here for some time of an intention on the part of Secretary Alger to resign after the inquiries into the conduct of the war have ended and Monday night these were coupled with the statement that Senator McMillan, of Michigan, had been determined on as Gen. Alger's successor. Senator McMillan when seen, however, made a positive disclaimer of any knowledge of a change in the cabinet. No offer or intimation of any kind had been made to him to take the war portfolio, he added.

Simultaneously the gunboats hovered along the shore, shelling the woods ahead of the troops and driving the Filipinos inland. The Gatlings cleared several trenches.

Fought in the Old-Time Way.

The whole brigade was divided into squads of 12, and the fighting was carried on in the old-time frontier fashion, from behind trees, crawling through bushes or rushing across the open. The trenches that were not cleared by the gunboats gave considerable resistance, when the line was nearing the city and the Laguna de Bay and Oeste bombarded for an hour in the hope of making them too warm for occupancy, but did not succeed in clearing them entirely. Gen. Lawton, with the Fourteenth infantry battalions, approached a narrow iron bridge across a creek on the south border of the town. Here a company of Filipinos was entrenched across the stream and behind a stone barricade at the entrance to the bridge.

A Gallant Charge.

The Americans rushed forward in single file, in the face of a galling fire, demolished the barricade with their hands and drove the enemy from the trenches, killing a dozen. The Filipino soldiers in the town, secreted in various buildings and firing from the windows, gave the invaders an interesting hour. There was a regular nest of them in the stone jail, which is edged in by a wall. This was a veritable pepper pot. The Americans singly or in pairs enter, and many others wounded, to whom the Americans offered their canteens, as though they were comrades. A surgeon who traversed the field counted 80 killed, and Gen. Lawton will report at least 68. One Filipino, attempting to make his escape, slashed viciously at Maj. Weisenberger, who shot and killed him.

NONE SO GOOD.

The Spanish copy of the treaty signed by the queen regent and Premier Silvela, arrived at the French embassy Monday. The officials of the embassy later called on Secretary Hay and the necessary arrangements for to-day's ceremony were made. The treaty forwarded by Spain is handsomely engrossed on parchment, in old English script, with wide double columns, one in Spanish and the other in English. Its binding is of red morocco heavily embossed in gold, which gives the effect of the yellow and red colors of Spain.

The United States' copy of the treaty was finished Monday and placed in the possession of the president at the white house. Like other treaties to which the United States is a party, this document is a model of simplicity and neatness. The text is reproduced in parallel columns, the left in English and the right in Spanish, surrounded with a narrow border of the national colors. The document is enclosed in a cover of dark blue morocco with the great seal of the United States upon the face, and a decorative design in gold.

When the exchange of ratifications occurs, the Spanish copy of the treaty will be handed to President McKinley to become the permanent property of the United States, and preserved in the state department along with other treaties. At the same time the president will hand to Ambassador Cambon, for Spain, the American copy of the treaty, which will become the property of Spain.

THE FIELD OBSEQUIES.

They Will Be Held in Washington on Thursday—Interment Will Probably Be in Stockbridge, Mass.

Washington, April 11.—When the United States court met Monday the death of Justice Field was announced and the court adjourned as a mark of respect. Decisions will be announced to-day.

The funeral services will be held at the Field home on Thursday, Rev. Randolph McKim, D. D., officiating, and the remains will be placed in a vault temporarily. The final interment will probably be at Stockbridge, Mass., with the remains of his parents, brothers and sisters.

Tragedy in St. Louis.

St. Louis, April 11.—At five o'clock Monday afternoon, when the immense department store of Siegel & Hillman was crowded with shoppers, Frank Callaway caused a panic by shooting and killing his wife, who was employed there as a saleswoman. Five shots were fired at the woman, the bullets entering her head and breast, killing her almost instantly. Callaway gave himself up and was taken to the Four Courts. Recently Mrs. Callaway filed a suit for divorce. She was young and handsome and one of the most popular and efficient employees in the store where she was employed.

A Rumor Denied.

Washington, April 11.—Persistent reports have been circulated here for some time of an intention on the part of Secretary Alger to resign after the inquiries into the conduct of the war have ended and Monday night these were coupled with the statement that Senator McMillan, of Michigan, had been determined on as Gen. Alger's successor. Senator McMillan when seen, however, made a positive disclaimer of any knowledge of a change in the cabinet. No offer or intimation of any kind had been made to him to take the war portfolio, he added.

Many Indictments.

Greenfield, Ind., April 11.—The county grand jury, after nearly two months' investigation, has made its report and has returned 91 indictments against former county officers and one of the present county officers. These indictments are for alleged bribery, violations of the fee and salary laws, etc. Two men will be indicted for attempting to bribe the prosecuting attorney, and one county employee, who is supposed to have been indicted, has not been seen for several days. There is great excitement over the matter here.

Iowa Rivers Rising.

Des Moines, Ia., April 11.—The Des Moines, Raccoon, Iowa and Cedar rivers are rising fast and great damage is certain on low lands unless the weather turns cold and prevents melting the heavy snows in the northern part of the state. An ice gorge wrecked a railroad bridge near Fort Dodge. The gorge has broken, but water is rising fast. There is more snow in the north half of the state than on a corresponding date for 15 years and it is melting at a terrific rate.

Passed Away.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 11.—Col. B. C. Shaw died Monday. He served with distinction in the civil war and was twice elected treasurer of state. He was formerly chairman of the democratic state central committee.

Thomas Hardie, leader in educational and masonic circles in the northwest, died in Dubuque, Ia., Monday morning, aged 80. He was secretary of the Dubuque board of education for 40 years and a resident of Iowa for a half century.

The trial of the 13 citizens of Lake City for having lynched Postmaster Baker began at Charleston, S. C., Monday before Judge Brawley. There are 150 witnesses to be examined, but the end of the trial will probably be reached in two weeks.

The trial of ex-United States Senator Quay and his son, Richard R. Quay, on charges of conspiracy in the misuse of funds of the People's bank of Philadelphia was begun Monday morning in that city. The work of securing a jury was begun at once.

A special from McLeansboro, Ill., says: Frank Horrick, living near Hickory Hill church, in the southern part of this county, went to the house of his brother-in-law, Mark Barger, and stabbed him to death with a knife. No particulars are given. Both men are well known.

A special from Bowling Green, Ky., says: Robert Douglass, superintendent of the Whitestone quarry, near this city, and his son Otto were shot by Frank Grottswalls, a carpenter. Grottswalls came to town and surrendered to officers, but refused to talk; it is therefore not known what caused the shooting.

If the cruiser Raleigh sails from Hamilton, Bermuda, on Thursday, as is expected, she will probably arrive in New York on Saturday. Preparations for the reception of the Raleigh and her commander, Capt. Coghlan, are being perfected by the committee of reception, which will consist of 500 prominent men.

NOT EXPEDIENT.

United States in Reply to Inquiry from Britain Refuses to Reopen Bimetallie Question.

London, April 11.—A blue book, giving the evidence obtained by the Indian currency inquiry committee, was published Monday. It includes a letter from the United States secretary of state, Col. John Hay, to Lord Aldenham, a director of the Bank of England, dated November 25 last, saying:

"The Washington cabinet does not consider it expedient for the United States to reopen the bimetallic question at present, in view of the character of the British ministry's reply to the bimetallic commission in 1897."

Small Town Suffers by Fire.

La Crosse, Wis., April 11.—Fire Monday afternoon destroyed two large stores, a warehouse and ten residences in Lynxville, a small town 40 miles south of here. The town had no protection from fire, and telegraphed this city for help, but the fire had burned itself out before the apparatus started. The loss is estimated at $40,000.

Office 32 Fountain st. Orders by mail will receive prompt attention.

Several occurrences during the last three or four days have been calculated to convince the public that our authorities, both in Manila and in Washington, do not consider that the Philippine question was taken out of the critical field by the successful campaign of Gen. Otis against Aguinaldo. Among them was a cablegram from Admiral Dewey, asking that six months' engineering supplies for his fleet be sent to Manila at once, and Secretary Long's reply, in the name of the president, to a request from a Washington committee that Dewey be ordered home in time to participate in the peace jubilee, to be held May 22-26 at the national capital. Secretary Long frankly told the committee that the president considered affairs in the Philippines to be in too critical a stage to order Dewey home.

The military court of inquiry, after deliberating over it two or three days, decided to accede to the request of Gen. Miles, that the official reports of 147 officers, from brigadier-generals to lieutenants, on the beef issued to soldiers in Cuba and Porto Rico, be admitted as testimony, but adhered to its first decision, not to summon those among the 131 witnesses Gen. Miles submitted whose testimony would merely corroborate that already given by others. This is taken to indicate that the court thinks the issuing of bad beef, both canned and refrigerated, has been fully proven, and that it only desires evidence on other phases of the case as the order convening the court makes it a part of its duty to place the responsibility for any wrong doing found, and it is inconceivable that so much bad beef could have been bought by the government without some guilt among the purchasing or inspecting officials. Of course, nobody knows what action the court will finally take, but the opinion is growing stronger that it will recommend court-martials for Gen. Eagan and several other officers, if it does not express a positive opinion of their guilt.

Inspector-General Breckenridge, who has been in Cuba and Porto Rico for three months, brought the president much valuable information obtained by his close observation of existing conditions on the islands, and not a little of it is widely different from that which has been obtained from other sources. Gen. Breckenridge is strongly of the opinion that Gomez is not to be trusted. He thinks that Gomez is the most dangerous enemy the United States has in Cuba; that his turbulent nature fits him for participation in revolutions, but not to assist in the establishment of a peaceful government, and has warned the president of the danger of allowing him to get control of Cuba. He also told the president that things were not being conducted under our military government in Cuba in a manner to accustom the Cubans to a free government; that it was a serious mistake to allow distasteful Spanish laws to remain in force over there, in addition to our military laws. He doubts whether Cuba can have a free government of its own, because he believes that as soon as our military government is withdrawn, Gomez and his followers will establish a military government that will be as much of a despotism as Spain ever maintained over the island. Of Porto Rico he says that the people are disposed to be contented, but that the serious drawbacks to industry, owing to the closing of the markets of Spain for Porto Rican products and the failure to open our own to them, have already resulted in distress and an alarming increase of brigandage, and that things will soon grow worse if means are not found to provide employment for the islanders. The president is powerless to act in this matter. It will require action of congress to open our markets to Porto Rican products. The president is deeply impressed by Gen. Breckenridge's information, and has had several extended conferences with him to talk the matter over.

"I dunno ez as I b'lieve in this idea of stringin' a lot o' them little Pers'fic islan's together with a steel cable," said old Uncle Hez as he ran his hand through his hair and looked wise. "Somethin' might happen to spread Ameriky an' Asia apart a little furdur, an' when that blame' cable straightened out, all these little islan's would be yanked right up by th' roots, see?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

were gathered at the depot and the Colonel alighted from the train the first thing to greet him on his entrance to the depot was the U. of M. yell. He is a graduate of Harvard and knows what a college yell is when he meets it. He smiled the smile which has made the caricatures of his famous, and raised his hat in recognition of the greeting accorded him. He was accompanied by Col. Treadwell, his military secretary, who was in full uniform.

He was to have been entertained at the home of Prof. Demmon, but owing to the sickness of Mrs. Demmon this arrangement was altered and he became the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Angell at their home.

By 11 o'clock all the seats in University hall were occupied with the exception of the niffles at the extreme edges at either side. When the speaker appeared accompanied by Dr. Angell and followed by the faculty, the applause was tumultuous. As it commenced to die away the U. of M. yell was taken up with a will and the audience was immediately treated to a glimpse of those gleaming set of Roosevelt teeth. There seem to be two occasions on which they are displayed with equal extent. One is when Gov. Roosevelt is pleased and the other is when he is determined. At this moment he was very much pleased. The repetition of the exhibition came later and more often during his earnest address when he was firm, decisive and resolute.

President Angell, in introducing him, said that everybody present was glad of the opportunity of hearing such a distinguished citizen—a man who has not only written history but made history, and who had done both equally well.

The reception which greeted Col. Roosevelt as he rose to speak was most enthusiastic, and led him to remark happily that he didn't wonder that he liked to stop off here. He had an affection for the University of Michigan. He had been here before. His address in substance was as follows: "I am glad of the opportunity of talking to any body of graduates and undergraduates of a great university. I feel that so much of the future of the country depends upon people just like you, upon whom the heavy burden of responsibility rests. I have a double interest in speaking to university men. It was my good fortune to have in my regiment the representatives of so many universities. Young McNaughton, who was killed at San Juan hill, stood almost beside me. He was from your university, and was as brave a man as there was in the regiment. Yesterday at the University of Chicago I met a young undergraduate in my class. I didn't know he was a college man last summer. He enlisted with an Arizona company. He simply went down to Santiago for a vacation.

"I have always preached for the development of the physical as well as the mental. I like the development of the character. I have long been the advocate of the gentle sport of football. One of the things that please me is the way athletes show how they can turn their training to account. One of the best men in my regiment was Greeney, the football player. Another was Goodrich, of the Harvard crew. I would think exceedingly little if I then made athletes the end for their college training. I don't care for that kind of a man. I like him while he is a quarter-back, but after he gets out of college, even if he is a something else, I want him to go on. The thing I liked about all the college men in the regiment was that they asked no favors because they were college men. I only learned they were college men in my regiment in many cases. They went in to do their duty, even in the roughest way, as well as anybody else. The attitude those men took in the war is the attitude I hope to see you take in civil life.

"I am going to preach a little now, I have small respect for the man who wants to get through life with little trouble—that wants to have things made soft and easy for him. If you are fit to be a freeman, you will go out into active life knowing that you will have have a rough time. To you here who receive these excellent advantages, we have a right to turn, expecting you to do your duty not only to your family but to your state and country as well. If we do not get leaders out of such as you, it means either that the public is wrong or you are wrong. I expect much in two ways. First, in the direction of common honesty, and second, in the direction of common sense.

"After a good many years of experience, I do not know which man to regard with the most dread—the machine politician or the fool reformer. But we have got to have an organization in politics or we cannot accomplish anything. If ever we get what they have in France—the group system, whereby every seven or eight men have a candidate—it will mean a lost capacity for efficient work. That organization is worse than wolves if it has not got breathed in it the breath of higher aspirations. There are scoundrels who make use of the word patriotism and others who use the word reform without meaning it in its true sense. The minute a man in public life ceases to try to reform things he becomes useless. We have got to have the machine on one side and the spirit on the other. But if the reformer lacks common sense he will break the machine.

"I hope you will go into political life and hold office. To all such I have two bits of advice to give.

1. Live up to what you say. Don't say anything before election you do not mean.

2. Don't say any thing you are not pretty sure you can put into effect.

If you say you are going to do something you cannot do or have no serious means to do it. The Light Guard army could many enthusiastic ex-members of the 31st Michigan regiment last night, there to arrange for the reception of their comrades of the regiment when they return from Cuba.

After several plans were discussed, a committee was appointed to make arrangements with the Michigan Central railroad for a train to take the Detroit members to Toledo.

It is thought that about 50 members of the 31st and the Light-Guard band will go to Toledo to meet their comrades.

Another meeting was called for next Monday night.

The 31st band will make a tour of the state upon the return from Cuba, giving concerts in each town where a company was sent out to the war with Spain.

UP TO BUTTERFIELD.

Commons Says He Won't Stand up for the Salary Grab.

LANSING, April 10.—Clerk Commons, of the board of state auditors, declines to stand for Secretary Butterfield's treasury raid on behalf of the board of railroad assessors, and as the conversation between them and Butterfield took place in the presence of a witness, Commons thinks he can prove his case. He says that Butterfield simply asked him how to make out his bill, and then had him figure the compensation of each assessor per month. Then Butterfield made out a bill in the name of one of the assessors, for one month's pay, but immediately announced his "error" and proceeded to make out new bills for three months' pay for each assessor and himself.

Commons insists that Butterfield said nothing whatever to him about the length of time he should ask compensation for, and this is borne out by the latter's letter to Commons today, in which he says: "If you had suggested that it might be objectionable to claim salaries for the members of the board from Jan. 15, I should most certainly not have done it."

Commons says that if he were to suggest to state officials that they cut their throats when presented he would probably have to take his meals standing most of the time.

Miss Bates to Read a Paper Before the International Congress of Women.

An international congress of women will be held in London from June 26 to July 4 this year, and the Radical women of the world will be entertained by the Conservative women of Great Britain. America will be represented on the program by some half dozen of the more prominent women in the United States, among whom may be mentioned Miss Octavia W. Bates, a graduate of the law department and who has, since receiving her degree, been making her home in this city. Miss Bates will read a paper before the professional section of the congress on the subject, "Professions Open to Women." In connection with the conference entertainments have been arranged for by Lady Aberdeen, the president of the International congress of Women, Lady Creighton, the Duchess of Sutherland, Lady Battersea and Lady Rothschild, that by the latter being a garden party at Gunpowder Park, near London, on Tuesday, July 4.

Miss Bates intends leaving for London during the last week in May.

R. L. Melendy Who Went to Chicago to Study Slums Up Against It.

R. L. Melendy, who won the Students' Christian association fellowship for three months' study in the slums of Chicago, has written a letter from the Chicago Commons stating that the first political caucus he was detailed to attend was enlivened by 20 shots being fired. Two negroes were wounded.

THE EVIL EYE.

All of us are children at heart, and that accounts for the hearty laughter, from all accounts, that greets wherever produced, Charles H. Yale's wonderfully successful mechanical spectacle, "The Evil Eye, or the Weird Wonderful Wanderings of Nod," which will be the attraction at the opera house Tuesday evening, April 11. All the antics that the childish imagination is taught to associate with witchcraft are reproduced, and intermingled are scenic embellishments, so that the eye is continually delighted as well as surprised. Half a dozen fairy legends are brought into action, and give opportunity for beautiful scenic effects. In the first act is seen a Holland village with a marvelous twirling mill, in the second a series of wonderful disappearing rooms, and in the final act the startling caleptie drawbridge. The evil genius of the production is Wartburg, a jettatore, and the comic geniuses are Nid and Nod. The latter are interpreted by Rosaire and Elliott, a pair of acrobats who are continually displaying new tricks in their line of work. Some of their eccentricities are marvelous, notably this: Rosaire lies flat on the ground and Elliott stands on him. From his back he jumps to his shoulders, from his shoulders to his chest, from his chest to his haunches, and then back to the base of his spine. This case of human treadmill has to be repeated several times until the audience satisfies itself thoroughly with the way it is done.

EARLY USE OF COAL.

Some Historians Say It Was Known Before Caesar.

It is believed by some historians that coal was used by the Romans on the continent and by the Britons on the island before the arrival of Caesar, says the Detroit Free Press. As early as 1234 Henry III. granted a license to dig coal near Newcastle, but a few years later the use of coal was forbidden in London, the smoke being deemed prejudicial to public health. In 1306 the London gentry petitioned the King against its use, declaring that in spite of his royal order, certain malicious persons persisted in burning it. Coals began to be brought from Newcastle to London in 1381, during the reign of Richard II. By the year 1400 coal was commonly burned in London as a fuel, though 200 years later, in the reign of Charles I. its use was far from being general throughout England. Anthracite coal, which, except the diamond, is the purest form of carbon known, was first used by a Connecticut blacksmith named Gore in 1768, and as a domestic fuel by Judge Jesse Fell of Wilkesbarre, Pa., in 1808.

The Women's League are well pleased with the results of the Sousa concert Saturday evening, which nets them over all expenses, $318. And in connection with the same they wish to state that they are under very great and lasting obligations to the regents of the University for the use of the hall; to the press for assistance in bringing the concert to the attention of the public; to Mr. F. The 10 years' old son of Dr. Jackson was severely bitten in the calf of the leg yesterday by a dog. The boy was playing and in running through a neighbor's yard was nabbed by the canine. At the recent township election in Northfield, John P. Smith, who was running on the Democratic ticket, was counted the winner over M. F. Tobin for treasurer by four. A large audience witnessed the performance of the U. of M. minstrels last evening. Standing room was at a premium, and the unusual sight of women crowding into the gallery was a sample of how the event attracted the public. As for the merits of the production, it did not compare very favorably with the U. of M. minstrels of former years. An extra amount of matter in today's issue prevents an extended notice.

Ascher has lost none of his flesh, his rosy cheeks and bright eyes during his eight months of incarceration, and is confident of his acquittal. The jury was secured yesterday afternoon. The following is an extract of a letter received from a Co. A boy: "Well, I guess the day is not far distant when we will return to Ann Arbor in all our pomp and glory, after our triumphal tour—Chickamauga Park, Knoxville, etc., and the question is this: Where do the good people of Ann Arbor wish the 'embalmed beef' veterans of the Spanish war to line up to be dismissed. Food for thought. I tell you, Alex, somebody did us dirt good and plenty in giving up the armory. Do you remember the promises made us when we left?"

"The Prisoner of Zenda" will be the attraction at the Athens theatre on Friday, April 14th, and will be interpreted by a fine company, under the management of Mr. Daniel Frohman, of the New York Lyceum theatre. Although now in its fourth year, this great play has lost none of its popularity. Mr. Howard Gould, whose excellent performance of the dual role of Rasendyll and the king has added so much attractiveness to the play in past seasons, is still engaged for the leading position in the company, which also includes R. F. McMcClannin, Vaughan Glaser, Albert Perry, Duncan Harris, Robert Connors, Benjamin Monteith, Edgar Macgregor, and the Misses Margaret Fuller, Nellie Strickland, Amy Ricard, and others.

Some Historians Say It Was Known Before Caesar.

It is believed by some historians that coal was used by the Romans on the continent and by the Britons on the island before the arrival of Caesar, says the Detroit Free Press. As early as 1234 Henry III. granted a license to dig coal near Newcastle, but a few years later the use of coal was forbidden in London, the smoke being deemed prejudicial to public health. In 1306 the London gentry petitioned the King against its use, declaring that in spite of his royal order, certain malicious persons persisted in burning it. Coals began to be brought from Newcastle to London in 1381, during the reign of Richard II. By the year 1400 coal was commonly burned in London as a fuel, though 200 years later, in the reign of Charles I., its use was far from being general throughout England. Anthracite coal, which, except the diamond, is the purest form of carbon known, was first used by a Connecticut blacksmith named Gore in 1768, and as a domestic fuel by Judge Jesse Fell of Wilkesbarre, Pa., in 1808.

Frequent inquiries are being made as

ago. Today is the 11th of April and not a stroke of economy, is being made at WHEELMEN MEET.

Business Meeting and Election of Officers in the L. A. W.

Last evening in K. P. hall was held the annual meeting of the local branch of the L. A. W. From the interest manifested in the meeting and from hearty promises of co-operation on the part of many unable to attend, it seems highly probable that the coming season will be a very successful one for the local league.

State Consul E. N. Hines was present and made a short address, as also did local consuls H. E. Earl and B. E. Belcher, of Detroit. The remarks of Messrs. Earl and Belcher were of a general nature, consisting mainly of words of encouragement to the Ypsilanti workers. Mr. Hines gave a brief sketch of the history of the national and state league, and then spoke of the actual benefits to members and to the general bicycle public of the league's existence. The legislation favorable to wheelmen, benefits of which all lovers of that sport now reap, was brought about through the efforts of the league and they are still working for the rights of the riding public. At present before the state legislature there are two bills, the Hinesman and the Davis bills. The first makes it a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of $10, to injure bicycle or side paths, and the second makes bicycle thieving a felony. Mr. Hines called upon L. A. W. men and all interested in wheeling to make personal appeals to the local representatives in the state senate and house, that they favor both of the above measures.

The attention of the league was called to the fact that teamsters in the employ of the D. Y. & A. A. have destroyed a portion of the bicycle path between this city and Ann Arbor by driving across it. Consul D. F. Sullivan reported that he had seen officials of the road and that they had seemed perfectly willing to make good any damage for which they are responsible. It was resolved to look into the matter more carefully and see that the path is put into repair.

Treasurer Bowen reported that when he assumed the duties of his office, $421.50 had been collected for the Ann Arbor path, and that he himself collected an additional $13.50. There is still on hand $58.50 in uncollected subscriptions, but the greater portion of these is considered good. The balance in the treasury is at present $123.70, a large part of which will be at once spent in repairs on the path.

Before the meeting adjourned, Mr. D.
P. Sullivan called a meeting of the recently elected local consuls for the purpose of choosing the senior consul, whose duty it is to preside over league gatherings.

MICHIGAN WHIST ASSOCIATION.

Last week in Detroit occurred the largest and most successful meeting of the Michigan Whist association ever held in the state. While the official register only showed 226 in attendance, it is altogether probable that at least 25 more failed to register. Not a man could be found but was pleased with the admission of ladies into the association, meetings, and to show their good will they invited the ladies to form an auxiliary woman's association and to join with the men in holding the annual meeting in April next. Also, as an incentive, they voted to offer a new trophy to be contested for at future annual meetings by the ladies only.

The business meeting for the election of officers was quite animated, and at times looked a little troublesome, but was brought to a happy close by the election of the following officers: President, F. A. Mitchell, of Manistee; vice-president, J. W. Steiner, of Detroit; secretary, F. W. Hine, of Grand Rapids; treasurer, T. Y. Sebring, of Kalamazoo; executive committee, C. W. Rogers, of Ypsilanti, W. C. Lewis, of Flint, B. F.

Warner, of Paw Paw.

President Mitchell appointed the following committee for the revision of the constitution and the drafting of new rules of play: C. W. Rogers, chairman; A. M. Haynes, T. Y. Sebring. It is general conceded that the executive committee will appoint the next annual meeting for the year 1900, at the state, probably Grand Rapids. It is understood that Kalamazoo wishes it also.

In the play in the various trophy and open contests Ypsilanti was quite generally represented by both gentlemen and ladies, and made very respectable showing in the score, though Mr. Walterhouse (with Mr. Charbonneau, of Detroit, as a partner) was the only one to bring home any moment of attendance and play. He is quite proud in wearing an M. W. A. pin, won in the open contest for pairs Friday morning.

Bouncing the Baby.

A fond mother once asked the witty Charles Lamb
"how he liked babies?"
The stuttering wit promptly responded: "Boi—boi—boiled, madam!"

Fortunately for the world, most men and women love babies, and the home that is without one is never truly happy. The old bachelors like Lamb are the only men who do not care for babies, and the woman who has to make her husband happy without undergoing the ordeal of maternity, hopes in vain. If women only knew, there is no necessity for dreading the pangs of motherhood. If a woman is really healthy in a womanly way, her trial will be insignificant.
There is one great remedy that prepares a woman for almost painless child-bearing.
It is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives strength, vigor and virility to the special organs that bear the burden of motherhood. It cures weakness, inflammation, and ulceration. It banishes morning sickness, and other discomforts. It insures a healthy, bouncing baby. Thousands of once bar-ren homes bless innocent lambs born of motherhood. Honest medicine dealers sell it and will not substitute some inferior preparation. Read what one woman says:

"I was taken sick two years ago and tried almost everything but could not get better.
Mrs. T. C. Blashfield, of Brimfield, Hampden Co., Mass. 'Your Favorite Prescription' did me a great deal of good. I was suffering with all the troubles of the woman, and now I am so much better that I can walk quite a distance. It was your medicine that helped me. You have my best wishes and thank you, and may God be with you to do all the good for the suffering people that you can. If I hear of anybody sick I will recommend them to write to you, and I will tell what you have done for me."

Electric Power Drainage of a Coal Field

One of the greatest coal fields of England, some thirty-two square miles in area, has numerous pumps established at as many different points to pump out the water. Now it is proposed to work these pumps by electricity. They will all be so connected that at a single point the necessary switching can be done to throw them all into action at once. There are fifty pumps in all. If the project is successfully carried out it will be one of the most striking applications of electric distribution and control of power yet installed.

Buried with His Weapons.

A doctor died and was buried in Miltonville the other day. In the funeral procession the doctor's team was led just behind the hearse and propped on the buggy seat was the doctor's medicine case. And yet some people reject the belief that heredity has brought down to us the customs of 6,000 years ago. The earliest account of man tells us that the warrior was buried with his weapons.—Kansas City People's Wants!

Which Half is the Better Half

The housewife's duties are harder than men realize. Cleaning alone is a constant tax on her strength, a never-ended task. More than half the work of cleaning she can have done for her, if she will, and the expense will be next to nothing

GOLD DUST

Does the better half of cleaning; does it better than any other way known; does it easily, quickly and cheaply. Largest package—greatest economy.

Submarine Searchlights.

One of the disadvantages of a searchlight on war vessels is the revealing of the position of the ship. In the United States navy experiments have been made with submarine lights, which were placed well below the surface of the water, and their rays were directed slightly upward. As the light emerged from the water the observers, on deck could detect any vessel at the point of emergence, and the searchlight could not betray its own source.

The President's Salary.

The salary of the president was fixed at $25,000 a year, and remained at this figure until congress doubled this sum for Gen. Grant as a special reward, he having resigned a life position in the army to accept the presidency.

Big Sewing Machine.

The largest sewing machine in the world is said to be in operation in Leeds. It weighs 6,500 pounds, and sews cotton belting.

Lightning Discharges from Kites.

A number of very violent lightning discharges down the wires with which scientific kites are flown have just been recorded. In some cases the flash coming down the wire burned and destroyed several thousand feet of wire.
One observer says that a column of fire a foot in diameter seemed to follow the wire. The slight electrical disturbance conducted down Franklin's wet kite string was trivial compared to these most dangerous discharges.

A Historic Tableau.

A historic tableau is being prepared which is likely to cause a sensation at the Paris exposition. This is no other than a faithful reproduction of the Malmalson salon on the evening of a grand reception in the year 1800. More than fifty figures will appear in this scene, besides Napoleon and Josephine.
The furniture, which will consist almost entirely of authentic pieces of the period, promises to be a veritable curiosity in itself.

Frequent inquiries are being made as to the Fourth of July celebration which was talked so strongly of a few weeks ago. Today is the 11th of April and not a move has been made by the finance committee. If a success is to be made of the project plenty of money will be needed, and money is not to be picked up, especially by subscription, in a minute.

An improvement, and at the same time a stroke of economy, is being made at the Michigan Central. The old yard gates have been taken down and they will be replaced with gates which can be operated from the same tower as the street gates. A new system of interlocking switches will also be put in which can likewise be managed from this tower.

A very interesting series of entertainments will be given at the Methodist church from April 24th to the 29th.
Each evening a special illustrated lecture will be given on countries and cities of interest in various parts of the world. The talks will be given by Mrs.
Kate Crary, well known as an eloquent and charming speaker. The proceeds will be devoted to the Presbyterian building fund.

Boone and Miss Jennie Lamb; book committee, Miss Anna Cutchon. Mesdames Lucy Loomis, Helen Brown and

The second trial of Edward Ascher for the murder of Valmore Nichols is now fairly under way. Ascher's counsel is Charles Robinson and Thomas Navin, while the state is represented by Messrs.
Frazier, Mandell and Turner. Ascher still keeps up his wonderful nerve and expresses the firmest belief in his ultimate acquittal. He is accompanied in court by his faithful old father, who has spared neither time nor money in his son's defense.

Eighteen young men of the east side staple benefits. It spoke of the actual benefits to members and to the

existence. The legislation favorable to
of the riding public. At present before
the state legislature there are two bills, the Hineman and the Davis bills. The first makes it a misdemeanor, punish-
or the paths, and the second makes bicycle thieving a felony. Mr. Hines
called upon L. A. W. men and all interested in wheeling to make personal ap-
both of the above measures.

portion of the bicycle path between this city and Ann Arbor by driving across it. Consul D. P. Sullivan reported that he had seen officials of this road and that they had seemed perfectly willing
they are responsible. It was resolved
and see that the path is put into repair.
Treasurer Bowen reported that when
he assumed the duties of his office, $42.50 had been collected for the Ann Arbor path, and that he himself collected an additional $13.50. There is still on hand $58.50 in uncollected subscriptions,
but the greater portion of these is considered good. The balance in the treasury is at present $122.70, a large part of which will be at once spent in repairs
on the path.

Before the meeting adjourned, Mr. D.
P. Sullivan called a meeting of the re-
pose of choosing the senior consul,
whose duty it is to preside over league
gatherings.

the Michigan Whist association ever
held in the state. While the official register only showed 226 in attendance, it
is altogether probable that at least 25
more failed to register. Not a man could be found but was pleased with the
meetings, and to show their good will
they invited the ladies to form an auxiliary woman's association and to join
nual meetings by the ladies only.

was brought to a happy close by the election of the following officers: President, F. A. Mitchell, of Manistee; vice-president, J. W. Steiner, of Detroit; sec-

"Honesty is the Best Policy."

Never was a more pointed saying put into print, and yet to be honest only because it is policy is a poor kind of honesty. Better change "policy" to "principle" and the world will like you better. In the medical world there is one medicine honest for principle's sake—and that is Hood's Sarsaparilla.

It is the specific of the age for all blood troubles. The liver, kidneys and bowels are all toned up by its action as a cleanser and thus good health ensues.
It never disappoints.

Scrofula—"After 20 years of suffering with a cancerous sore on her nose and having it removed by physicians, my mother is happy for being completely cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It took 11 bottles to accomplish it. Her face is smooth, no scar." Miss E. A. Stokes, Epping, N. H.

"The statement of my daughter is exact," JOSEPH STOKES, Epping, N. H.

Malaria—"I was very low with malaria.
My doctor did not help me and scolded because I would not stop work. Took Hood's Sarsaparilla and got sound and well. Can eat, sleep and work well." Mrs.
JULIA STOCKING, Bath, N. Y.

Eczema—"My mother's face was covered with eczema, face, hands and feet were swollen. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured her. We keep it on hand and use it when it is high." Rev. E. E. JENKINS, 407 Governor Street, Evansville, Ind.

Sick Headache—"I am now 22. Since I was 8 years old I suffered constantly with impure blood, biliousness and sick headaches until I took Hood's Sarsaparilla by doctor's advice. I owe my life to it." ELYIA A. RUMBLE, Claremont, N. H.

Stomach Trouble—"Two years suffering with stomach trouble made me weak, run down, with severe headaches. Life was a burden to me until I took Hood's Sarsaparilla which cured me. It makes my children strong and healthy." Mrs. M.

retary, F. W. Hine, of Grand Rapids;
treasurer, T. Y. Sebring, of Kalamazoo;
executive committee, C. W. Rogers, of
Ypsilanti, W. C. Lewis, of Flint, B. F.
Warner, of Paw Paw.

following committee for consideration of the constitution and the drafting of new
rules of play: C. W. Rogers, chairman;
A. M. Haynes, T. Y. Sebring. It is general conceded that he executive committee will appoint the next annual meeting for the western part of the state, probably Grand Rapids. It is understood that Kalamazoo wishes it also.

open contests Ypsilanti was quite generally represented by both gentlemen
and ladies, and made very respectable
showing in the score, though Mr. Walterhouse (with Mr. Charbonneau, of De-
bring home any momento of attendance and play. He is quite proud in wearing an M. W. A. pin, won in the open contest for pairs Friday morning.

WOMEN GAMBLERS.

Society Maidens Who Enjoy the Passion of Cards.

A great future has been made over the discovery that English women are addicted to the vice of gambling. All the society journals have discussed the matter, and reformers have met in council to discover ways and means of killing out the monstrous vice. Meanwhile London's well-to-do society women spend whole days at each other's homes, where the blinds are carefully drawn, or, rather, that part of the twenty-four hours that they consider day—from 4 in the afternoon until midnight. They play with modest limits, but are still able to win or lose respectable little sums before the session closes. Social engagements are frequently thrown over for the fascination of gaming, and the men seem perfectly indifferent to this state of things. Now, this is a fashion which has not been slow in coming over to us. Our women have taken to gaming as naturally as ducks to water, and there can be found any number of beautifully appointed homes where the forenoon, afternoon or evening, according to inclination, is devoted to the several games of cards through which money changes hands. All these women know that they are liable to fall into the clutches of the law, so they take every precaution. I believe that they are even glad to have their husbands go to the club; at least, they have so far ceased to make objections so as to arouse suspicion.
In some cases this course of treatment has cured a man of the club habit, for he has seen the danger into which his wife is drifting, and has exerted himself to turn her attention in other directions. It can be done in almost every case, because women are susceptible to attention, particularly male attention. But this occasional man is the only reformer I know who is interesting himself in the matter, and the society journals have not yet found the scent of this increasing taste for gambling.

Legs as Digestive Organs.

Chomel knew what he was talking about, says the Journal of Medicine, when he said that a man digests as much with his legs as with his stomach, for we know that exercise facilitates nutrition, increases the elimination of waste products, promotes appetite, and, under proper conditions, is an aid to digestion.

posed city hall are requested to forward
